Investment Objective and Policy

Investment Objective: The objective of the Fund is to generate capital growth over the long term through investment in emerging markets equities.

Investment Policy: The Fund is actively managed. The investment policy of the Fund is to primarily invest in emerging markets equities globally, or in companies which are established and/or listed on exchanges outside emerging markets but which carry out a significant proportion of their economic activity in emerging markets.

The Fund may also invest a portion of its assets in equities issued by frontier market companies (i.e. a subset of emerging markets considered to be less mature in terms of market size, liquidity and their degree of economic and political development).

When selecting investments to buy for the Fund, the Sub-Investment Manager combines its proprietary screening process with a fundamental research process to assess companies through quality, value, operating performance and investor attention.

The investment process seeks to identify quality companies with durable business models, underappreciated market opportunities and the potential to generate sustainable returns over time. It also considers value, focusing on companies which the Sub-Investment Manager considers to be attractively valued relative to the fundamental strength of the business (such as their earnings, cash flow or assets), where the Sub-Investment Manager has identified specific developments that could lead the market to recognise that value over time. The process assesses operating performance by identifying companies with improving business trends, including positive revisions to forecasts or key operating metrics. Finally, it considers investor attention, seeking companies with positive price momentum that may indicate growing market recognition of the investee company's potential. Quality is assessed by reference to factors such as return on equity, revenue stability and distance to default, in order to identify companies considered to have durable business characteristics, financial resilience and the potential to deliver returns over time. Value is assessed using a range of metrics to identify companies that appear to trade below their assessed value, together with factors that may support a change in market valuation. Such developments may include, without limitation, changes in a company's operational performance, financial structure, capital allocation, strategic repositioning, management or governance changes. Operating performance is assessed using indicators such as revisions to earnings forecasts and revenue surprises, to identify companies exhibiting positive and improving business momentum over a 12 to 24 month period. Investor attention is assessed by reference to price momentum indicators, to identify companies experiencing growing market recognition of the underlying opportunity.

The performance of the Fund will be measured against the Index. As the Fund is actively managed, its holdings will differ from the Index. Further details on the types of securities the Fund invests in can be found in the "Permitted Investments" section below. Non-Index securities will be held in the Fund. The Fund's weighting to securities will usually be set by taking the weightings of securities in the Index into account before applying the investment policy described above. The Fund's return will typically differ from and may under-perform, the return of the Index.

Permitted Investments

Equities: The securities in which the Fund invests may include equities, or equity-related securities such as American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) or Global Depositary Receipts (GDRs). ADRs and GDRs are typically used instead of local shares, where owning the local shares represented in the Index is not possible or prohibitively expensive.

Other Funds / Liquid Assets: The Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in other regulated open-ended funds (including Money Market Funds) where the objectives of such funds are consistent with the objective of the Fund and where such funds are authorised in member states of the EEA, United Kingdom, USA, Jersey, Guernsey or the Isle of Man and where such funds comply in all material respects with the provisions of the UCITS Regulations. The Fund may hold ancillary liquid assets such as deposits in accordance with the UCITS Regulations.

Derivatives: The Fund may, for efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes, use financial derivative instruments ("FDIs"). Any use of FDIs by the Fund shall be limited to futures and forward foreign exchange contracts (including non-deliverable forwards). Efficient portfolio management means investment decisions involving transactions that are entered into for one or more of the following specific aims: the reduction of risk; the reduction of cost; the generation of additional capital or income for the Fund with an appropriate level of risk, taking into account the risk profile of the Fund;~~.~~ FDIs are described in the "Investment Objectives and Policies – Use of Financial Derivative Instruments" section of the Prospectus.

Securities Lending, Repurchase Agreements & Reverse Repurchase Agreements

The Fund does not intend to participate in a securities lending programme, though it is entitled to do so. The Fund also does not intend to engage in repurchase agreements and reverse repurchase agreements.

Please note that should the Directors elect to change the Fund's securities lending policy in the future, due notification will be given to Shareholders and this Supplement will be updated accordingly.

Investment Risks

Investment in the Fund carries with it a degree of risk. Investors should read the "Risk Information" section of the

Information Classification: Limited Access

Prospectus. In addition, the following risks are particularly relevant for the Fund.

Active Risk: Investment return will not normally match that of the Index. Investment decisions by the Investment Manager and/or Sub-Investment Manager to under or overweight securities in the Index or to vary the Fund's investments from the securities included in the Index, including as to specific securities or as to broader investment sectors, will affect the Fund performance versus that of the Index. In addition, the Fund performance against that of the Index will be affected by Fund expenses, the amount of cash and cash equivalents held in the Fund, and the frequency and the timing of purchases and sales of interests in the Fund.

Concentration Risk: When the Fund focuses its investments in a small number of stocks, the financial, economic, business, and other developments affecting that small number of stocks will have a greater effect on the Fund than if it was more diversified. This concentration may also limit the liquidity of the Fund. Investors may buy or sell substantial amounts of the Fund's shares in response to factors affecting or expected to affect the stocks in which the Fund focuses its investments.

Derivatives Risk: The Fund may use FDIs for efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes as described in the derivatives section under Permitted Investments above. The Fund's use of FDIs involves risks different from, and possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities.

Emerging Markets Risk: Risks of investing in emerging markets include, among others, greater political and economic instability, possible trade barriers, less governmental supervision and regulation, greater volatility in currency exchange rates, currency transfer restrictions or difficulties in gaining currency exposure, less developed securities markets, legal systems and financial services industries, differences in auditing and financial reporting standards, and greater dependence on revenue from particular commodities or international aid.

Equity and Equity related securities Risk: The market prices of equity and equity related securities may go up or down, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably. The value of these securities may decline for reasons that directly relate to the issuer and/or due to general industry or market, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates, or adverse investor sentiment generally. Equity markets tend to move in cycles, which may cause stock prices to fall over short or extended periods of time.

Frontier Markets Risk: a subset of emerging markets considered to be less mature in terms of market size, liquidity and their degree of economic and political development, may be more volatile and present greater risks than other emerging or developed markets. Some of these markets may be characterised by poor liquidity, narrow economies based on only a few industries, government instability, greater risk of asset expropriation or nationalisation or under-developed regulatory systems and corporate governance standards resulting in lower protections for investors. These markets are also more likely to have investment and repatriation restrictions, exchange controls and less developed custodial and settlement systems than other developed and emerging markets. As a result, the relevant Sub-Fund may be adversely impacted.

Liquidity Risk & ETF Liquidity Risk: Lack of a ready market or restrictions on resale may limit the ability of the Fund to sell a security at an advantageous time or price or at all. Illiquid securities may trade at a discount from comparable, more liquid investments and may be subject to wide fluctuations in market value. Illiquidity of the Fund's holdings may limit the ability of the Fund to obtain cash to meet redemptions on a timely basis. Where the fund invests in illiquid securities or does not trade in large volumes, the bid offer spreads of the Fund may widen, the Fund may be exposed to increased valuation risk and reduced ability to trade. Shares in the Fund may also trade at prices that are materially different to the last available NAV.

Management Risk: The Fund is actively managed. The Sub- Investment Manager's judgments about the attractiveness, relative value, or potential appreciation of a particular sector, security, commodity or investment strategy may prove to be incorrect, and may cause the Fund to incur losses. There can be no assurance that the Sub-Investment Manager's investment techniques and decisions will produce the desired results.

Modelling Risk: The Sub-Investment Manager uses quantitative models in an effort to enhance returns and manage risk. Any imperfections, errors or limitations in these models or in their programming could limit any benefit to the Fund from the use of the models, or could result in incorrect outputs or in investment outcomes different from or opposite to those expected or desired by the Sub-Investment Manager. Such imperfections, errors or limitations might never be detected, or might be detected only after a Fund has sustained a loss (or reduced performance). Further, there can be no assurance that the models will behave as expected in all market conditions

PRC Investments Risk: In addition to the risks of investing in emerging markets, risks of investing in PRC Investments markets include, among others, trading suspensions, currency transfer/exposure restrictions cancellation or amendments of instructions, limits on holdings of PRC Investments and use of brokers, untested concepts regarding new treatment of beneficial ownership, reliance on Access Programmes which may be discontinued or substantially changed, technology system risks and controls risks associated with such Access Programmes, custody risks including a lack of sufficient segregation of assets from those of the QFI, other intermediaries under the relevant Access Programmes and the relevant Sub-Custodians and tax uncertainty.

Integrating Sustainability Risk: Sustainability Risk has been integrated into the Fund's investment process. The Sub-Investment Manager uses a materiality-based approach to considering Sustainability Risks and opportunities in its management of the Fund. Through bottom-up research on individual companies, investment professionals consider whether sustainability factors could potentially have financial implications on an investment in the individual company. This analysis is based on the consideration of several factors, including exposure to business activities that are believed to carry Sustainability

Risks and opportunities and the time frame over which these may materialise. A variety of information is used in this analysis, including publicly available sources, specialist service providers as well as the discretion and qualitative judgement of the investment teams.

These Sustainability Risks and opportunities are considered in a holistic manner alongside traditional analysis of financial metrics and risks. Sustainability Risks may adversely affect the value of the securities of individual companies, sectors or countries either directly or through potential risks to economic growth and financial stability. However, given the investment strategy of the Fund, its risk profile, and the integration of Sustainability Risk into the Fund's investment process, the likely impact of Sustainability Risks on the Fund's returns is expected to be low.

The Sub-Investment Manager will consider engagement with a company's management team where they identify opportunities to effect positive change or deepen knowledge and insight.

Investor Profile

The typical investors of the Fund are expected to be institutional, intermediary and retail investors who want to take long term exposure to the performance of emerging equity markets and are prepared to accept the risks associated with an investment of this type.
