NOTICE TO UNITHOLDERS

Dear Unitholders

On 28 April 2020, the Greater China ETF issued (i) an addendum (the “Addendum”) to the prospectus dated 30 December 2019 (the “Prospectus”) and (ii) a revised product key facts statement of the Greater China ETF dated April 2020 (the “Revised KFS”) to effect the changes described below.

Unless otherwise defined in this notice, terms and expressions used in this notice shall have the same meanings ascribed to them under the prospectus of the Greater China ETF.

1 Enhanced disclosure in relation to risk factors of the SPDR[®] ETFs (the “Trust”)

The Prospectus has been updated to include the following:

- enhanced disclosures relating to market risks (including disruptions to economies and markets globally due to spread of infectious illnesses, such as the COVID-19 or other public health issues);
- enhanced disclosures relating to reliance on market makers risk, in compliance with regulatory requirements applicable to the Manager under the SFC’s Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds (“UT Code”) and to reflect the SFC’s expectation of fund managers in relation to market makers, as stated in its recent circular; and
- additional risk factor relating to unscheduled index rebalancing measures to correct any errors made by the Index Provider from time to time.

The Revised KFS has also been updated to include an additional risk factor on risks associated with reliance on market makers, in compliance with regulatory requirements applicable to the Manager under the UT Code and to reflect the SFC's expectation of fund managers in relation to market makers, as stated in its recent circular.

2 Updates in relation to index data, ongoing charges, tracking difference and past performance information

The Revised KFS provides updated information relating to the following:

- the ongoing charges, tracking difference and past performance information of the Greater China ETF (“Underlying Index”); and
- the index data relating to the Underlying Index's market capitalisation, the number of large and mid-cap stocks as at 31 March 2020 and the list of places which the large and mid-cap stocks are primarily listed in.

The Prospectus has also been updated to reflect the latest index data relating to the Underlying Index's market capitalisation, the number of large and mid-cap stocks as at 31 March 2020 and the list of places which the large and mid-cap stocks are primarily listed in.

You may also find information on the ongoing charges figure, tracking difference and the past performance of the Greater China ETF on its website.

3 Clarification amendments to reflect up-to-date disclosure

Given the effective date on which the Greater China ETF began investing in securities designated as A shares listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange and the Shenzhen Stock Exchange (i.e. 23 March 2020) has already passed, the Prospectus and Revised KFS have removed references to such future statements (e.g. removal of phrases such as “with effect from 23 March 2020 onwards”).
