Differences in the gross and net returns prior to August 2013 are attributable to fluctuating MERs on the initial SSGA seed money. In August 2013, the MER on the fund was capped at 79bps p.a. and as of July 2020 was reduced to 70bps p.a. Any net performance numbers stated here or in external materials prior to August 2013 will reflect a larger MER that is not attributable to investors going forward. Performance figures are calculated using end-of-month exit prices except for the 'Since Inception' return which is calculated using NAV prices for the pre 1 January 2010 period, and end-of-month exit prices thereafter, assume the reinvestment of distributions and make no allowance for tax. Net performance figures are after management and transaction costs. Gross performance figures are before management costs but after transaction costs. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Index returns are unmanaged and do not reflect the deduction of any fees or expenses. The calculation method for the value added returns may show rounding differences.

† Inception date is September 2009.

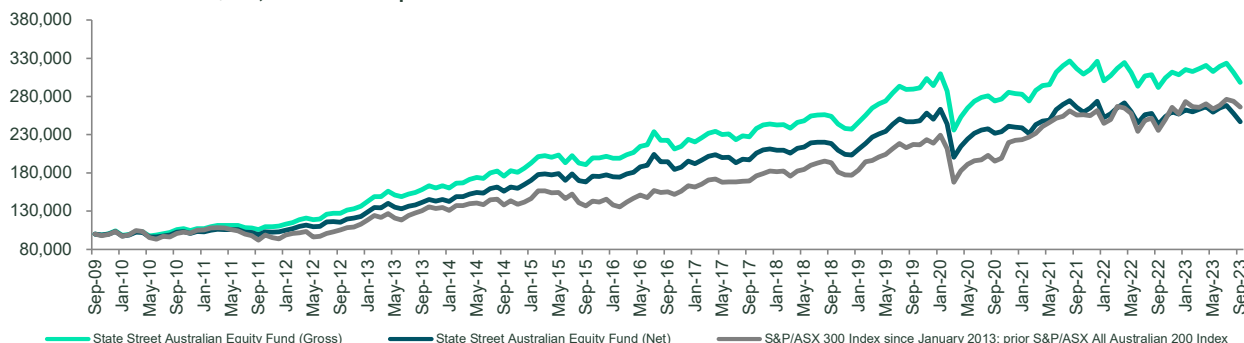

‡ The value added returns may show rounding differences.

* Benchmark: S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index, S&P/ASX 200 All Australian Accumulation Index prior to February 2013. Since inception performance and risk is calculated from 30 September 2009.

^ Standard deviation is a historical measure of the degree to which a fund's returns varied over a certain period of time. The higher the standard deviation, the greater the likelihood (and risk) that a fund's performance will fluctuate and have greater potential for volatility; a lower standard deviation indicates past returns have been less volatile.

~ Sharpe ratio is calculated by dividing the fund's net excess return over the risk-free rate by its standard deviation. The higher a fund's sharpe ratio, the better its returns have been relative to the amount of investment risk it has taken.
