Investment Strategy

The investment policy of the Strategy is track the performance of the index as closely as possible using a Stratified Sampling approach, while screening out securities based on an assessment of their adherence to certain sustainability criteria. Consequently, the Strategy will only hold a subset of the securities included in the index.

In order to attain the Climate Transition characteristics promoted by the Strategy, the Investment Manager will seek to invest in companies bonds which exhibit lower carbon emissions in the way of current emissions and future emissions (measured by fossil fuel reserves), green labelled bonds and climate-aligned issuers bonds and corporate bond securities issued by companies that are better positioned for the risks posed by climate change while screening out securities based on an assessment of their adherence to sustainability criteria.

The performance of the Strategy will be measured against the Bloomberg U.S. Credit Corp Index.

Key Facts

- Designed for investors interested in managing the risks and opportunities related to climate change and the transition to a low-carbon economy.

- Constructs a portfolio (relative to the index) that aims to lower current and potential future emissions while maximizing investments in green bonds.
- Uses two types of forward-looking climate metrics: implied temperature rise (ITR) and carbon risk rating (CRR).
- Screens out companies that do not meet international norms in relation to environmental protection, human rights, labor standards, anti-corruption, controversial weapons, and tobacco.
- Benefits from state-of-the-art indexing portfolio management model, which balances diversification, turnover, and tracking error objectives.
- Seeks to deliver a highly diversified portfolio with close tracking to a standard benchmark.

Building an Effective Climate Strategy

1) Define the starting universe To build the right baseline we identify an index that defines the target investment universe from which the portfolio will hold a subset of securities.

2) Apply multi-source sustainability data we employ an open architecture and have selected the following data providers for the Climate Transition Corporate Bond Beta Strategy:

a) MSCI and ISS ESG for climate related data

b) Climate Bonds Initiative for green bonds

c) Sustainalytics and MSCI for product and controversy involvement of the following exclusion criteria: Controversial Weapons, UNGC Violations, Thermal Coal, Arctic Drilling, Oil and Tar Sands, Severe ESG Controversies, Tobacco and Civilian Firearms.

d) R-Factor™ for identifying sustainability laggards based on the SASB ESG risk materiality framework

This document provides summary information regarding the Strategy. It should be read in conjunction with the Strategy's Disclosure Document, which is available from SSGA. The Strategy Disclosure Document contains important information about the Strategy, including a description of a number of risks.

3) Design for Optimal Outcomes

- Reduce Exposure to companies with excessive carbon emissions and fossil fuel assets and those involved in controversial behaviors.
- Increase Exposure to green bonds and companies supporting the transition to the lower carbon economy.
- Balancing the objectives in conjunction with diversification, turnover and tracking error considerations.

4) Maximise value with an Indexed approach A value-add indexing approach underpinned by minimising turnover relative to that of the index, effective trading and execution, harnessing the 'new issue premium' and a relative value (RV) security selection process.
