

SPDR S&P 500 ESG Screened UCITS ETF

ESG exclusion-based ETF based on S&P 500, with transparent methodology and a 'Fast Exit' feature to react quickly to breaking ESG controversies.

The exclusion criteria aims to eliminate exposure to controversial weapons and civilian firearms, tobacco and thermal coal, as well as companies that do not comply with the Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact.

The ETF has a competitive TER of 0.10% and aims to offer low tracking error and similar performance characteristics to the S&P 500 index.

Broad Exposure to Key US Index with Light-Touch ESG

The S&P 500 index is one of the most popular index amongst equity investors, with $138 billion of assets tracking it in UCITS ETFs alone (as of end-July 2020).

The newly launched S&P 500 ESG Exclusions II Index adopts exclusion criteria based on data from Sustainalytics and RepRisk. The screens are based on the responsible policies of leading asset owners and aim to reduce reputational and idiosyncratic risks.

A product benchmarked to this index provides investors with an investment choice based on their own values and preferences.

Methodology

The strategy excludes companies that Sustainalytics considers to be non-compliant with the Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact, are involved in controversial weapons or civilian firearms, are tobacco producers, or derive revenues from thermal coal extraction, exploration or electricity generation.

Compliance with the Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact. Companies that are deemed non-compliant with the UNGC Principles, as identified by Sustainalytics, will be excluded from the eligible universe.

Controversial Weapons. The following weapons are considered controversial: anti-personnel mines, biological and chemical weapons, cluster weapons, depleted uranium, nuclear weapons and white phosphorus weapons. The criteria for involvement are:

- Internal production or sale of controversial weapons or components/services of the core weapon system
- A company owns >10% of voting rights of a company involved in the above

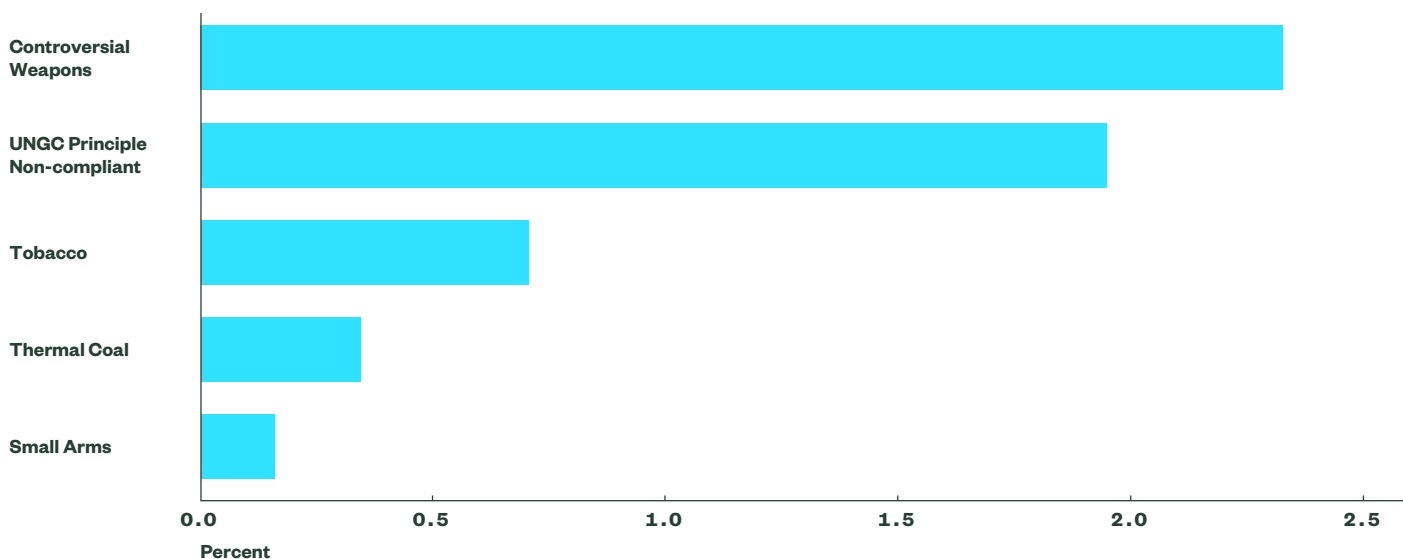

Tobacco. Manufacturers of tobacco products (with 0% revenue threshold) will be excluded.

Thermal Coal. Includes companies identified to have:

- >25% revenues from thermal coal extraction (including thermal coal mining and exploration)
- >25% revenues from electricity generation

Total Weight of Exclusions by Category (%)

Source: S&P, as at 30 June 2020. Exclusions as defined in the S&P Index Methodology Guide. Weights are as of the date indicated, subject to change, and should not be relied upon as current thereafter. N.B. As of the date indicated there were no exclusions from the Civilian Weapons category.

Civilian Firearms. Includes companies identified to:

- Manufacture and sell: assault weapons or small arms to civilians, small arms to military/law enforcement, or key components of small arms
- A company owns >10% of voting rights of a company involved in the above
- Generate >10% of revenue from small arms or assault weapons sales

The exclusions incorporated in this methodology have been identified by S&P as among the most important to ESG investors.

Fast Exit Feature. If a company is reported by RepRisk to have violated the RepRisk Index (RRI) Indicator threshold of 70, the impacted company will be removed from the index with two business days' notice on a best efforts basis from when S&P Dow Jones Indices is notified of the violation. A company removed as a risk will only be considered for addition to the index on any future rebalancing date if its RRI score is below 70 for all days since the previous rebalancing date.

Non-constituents may not be added to the index if their RRI has reached 70 or above any day since the previous rebalancing date.

The index is reviewed quarterly and components are free-float market-cap weighted.

ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk and will fluctuate in market value. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate in value, so that when shares are sold or redeemed, they may be worth more or less than when they were purchased. Although shares may be bought or sold on an exchange through any brokerage account, shares are not individually redeemable from the fund. Investors may acquire shares and tender them for redemption through the fund in large aggregations known as "creation units." Please see the fund's prospectus for more details. Concentrated investments in a particular Sector tend to be more volatile than the overall market and increases risk that events negatively affecting such sectors or industries could reduce returns, potentially causing the value of the Fund's shares to decrease. Investing in foreign domiciled securities may involve risk of capital loss from unfavourable fluctuation in currency values, withholding taxes, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles or from economic or political instability in other nations. Investments in emerging or developing markets may be more volatile and less liquid than investing in developed markets and may involve exposure to economic structures that are generally less diverse and mature and to political systems which have less stability than those of more developed countries. The funds are not available to U.S. investors. SSGA SPDR ETFs Europe I plc issue SPDR ETFs, and are open-ended investment companies with variable capital having segregated liability between their sub-funds. Bonds generally present less short-term risk and volatility than stocks, but contain interest rate risk (as interest rates raise, bond prices usually fall); issuer default risk; issuer credit risk; liquidity risk; and inflation risk. These effects are usually pronounced for longer-term securities. Any fixed income security sold or redeemed prior to maturity may be subject to a substantial gain or loss.

The returns on a portfolio of securities which exclude companies that do not meet the portfolio's specified ESG criteria may trail the returns on a portfolio of securities which include such companies. A portfolio's ESG criteria may result in the portfolio investing in industry sectors or securities which underperform the market as a whole.
