

Fund Objective

The State Street Institutional Premier Growth Equity Fund (the "Fund") seeks to provide long-term growth of capital and future income.

Process

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objectives by investing at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) under normal circumstances in equity securities, such as common and preferred stocks.

The Fund invests primarily in a limited number of large and medium sized companies (meaning companies with market capitalizations of $2 billion or more) that the portfolio managers believe have above-average growth histories and/or growth potential. The portfolio managers select equity securities from a number of industries based on the merits of individual companies, although at times the Fund's investments may be focused in one or more market sectors, such as technology. In seeking to achieve the Fund's investment objective with respect to future income, the portfolio managers also consider companies that have the potential to pay dividends in the future. Stock selection is key to the performance of the Fund.

The portfolio managers seek to identify securities of companies with characteristics such as:

- above-average annual growth rates
- financial strength (favorable debt ratios and other financial characteristics)
- leadership in their respective industries
- high quality management focused on generating shareholder value

The portfolio managers may consider selling a security when one of these characteristics no longer applies, or when valuation becomes excessive and more attractive alternatives are identified.

The Fund also may invest to a lesser extent in securities of foreign (non-U.S.) issuers and debt securities. The portfolio managers may also use various types of derivative instruments (primarily futures contracts) to gain or hedge exposure to certain types of securities as an alternative to investing directly in or selling such securities.

Equity securities may fluctuate in value and can decline significantly in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions.

Because of their narrow focus, financial sector funds tend to be more volatile. Preferred Securities are subordinated to bonds and other debt instruments, and will be subject to greater credit risk. The municipal market can be affected by adverse tax, legislative or political changes and the financial condition of the issuers of municipal securities. The fund may contain interest rate risk (as interest rates rise bond prices usually fall); the risk of issuer default; inflation risk; and issuer call risk. The Fund may invest in U.S. dollar-denominated securities of foreign issuers traded in the United States.

The value of the debt securities may increase or decrease as a result of the following: market fluctuations, increases in interest rates, inability of issuers to repay principal and interest or illiquidity in the debt securities markets; the risk of low rates of return due to reinvestment of securities during periods of falling interest rates or repayment by issuers with higher coupon or interest rates; and/or the risk of low income due to falling interest rates. To the extent that interest rates rise, certain underlying obligations may be paid off substantially slower than originally anticipated and the value of those securities may fall sharply. This may result in a reduction in income from debt securities income.

Considering the risks: A principal risk of investing in the Fund is the risk that the value of equity securities may decline. Although the Fund is a diversified fund, it may invest in securities of a limited number of issuers to achieve a potentially greater investment return than a fund that invests in a larger number of issuers. As a result, price movements of a single issuer's securities will have a greater impact on this Fund's net asset value, causing it to fluctuate more than that of a more widely diversified fund. These and other risk considerations are discussed in the Fund's prospectus and summary prospectus.
