

Fund Objective

The State Street S&P 500® Index Fund seeks to replicate the total return of the S&P 500® Index.

Process

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing substantially all of its investable assets in a corresponding portfolio. Under normal market conditions, at least 80% of its total assets will be invested in stocks in the S&P 500 Index in proportion to their weighting in the S&P 500 Index. The Fund is not managed according to traditional methods of "active" investment management, which involve the buying and selling of securities based upon economic, financial and market analysis and investment judgment. Instead, the Fund utilizes an "indexing" investment approach, attempting to replicate the investment performance of its benchmark.

Key Features

The Fund's investments are subject to changes in general economic conditions, general market fluctuations and the risks inherent in investment in securities markets. Investment markets can be volatile and prices of investments can change substantially due to various factors including, but not limited to, economic growth or recession, changes in interest rates, changes in the actual or perceived creditworthiness of issuers, and general market liquidity. The Fund is subject to the risk that geopolitical events will disrupt securities markets and adversely affect global economies and markets. Local, regional or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, or other events could have a significant impact on the Fund and its investments.

Derivative investments may involve risks such as potential illiquidity of the markets and additional risk of loss of principal.

Investments in mid-sized companies may involve greater risks than those in larger, better known companies, but may be less volatile than investments in smaller companies.

Companies with large market capitalizations go in and out of favor based on market and economic conditions. Larger companies tend to be less volatile than companies with smaller market capitalizations. In exchange for this potentially lower risk, the value of the security may not rise as much as companies with smaller market capitalizations.

Equity securities may fluctuate in value and can decline significantly in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions.

Passively managed funds invest by sampling the index, holding a range of securities that, in the aggregate, approximates the full Index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics. This may cause the fund to experience tracking errors relative to performance of the index.

The ability of the fund to meet its investment objective and redeem investors is directly related to the ability of the master fund to meet its objective and redeem fund interests in the master fund, and may be adversely affected by the purchase and redemption activities of other investors in the Portfolio.

Portfolio Guidelines

- The Fund's full index replication approach effectively mandates that the holdings, sector weights, and industry weights will match, as closely as possible, those of the S&P 500 index.
- Within the framework of matching holdings and sector/industry weights, all other fund characteristics will closely match those of the S&P 500 index.

Risk Management

Index funds help clients achieve broad diversification across the equity markets, while simultaneously providing clarity in investment objective and style by investing in a well-known benchmark. The Fund's goal is to provide close tracking, to its underlying benchmark, as well as to maintain the S&P 500 index characteristics which it achieves through a replication strategy.
