Investing involves risk including the risk of loss of principal.

Equity securities may fluctuate in value in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions. Because of their narrow focus, sector investing tends to be more volatile than investments that diversify across many sectors and companies.

The ETFs listed above have historically paid dividends to investors and/or invest in the securities of dividend paying issuers; however, there is no guarantee that these ETFs will consistently pay dividends to investors in the future or will appreciate in value. Investors could lose money by investing in ETFs.

SPDR® ETFs Dividend Distributions 2011–2013

Concentrated investments in a particular sector or industry tend to be more volatile than the overall market and increases risk that events negatively affecting such sectors or industries could reduce returns, potentially causing the value of the Fund's shares to decrease.

Diversification does not ensure a profit or guarantee against loss.

There can be no assurance that a liquid market will be maintained for ETF shares.
