Broad Exposure to Pan-European Universe with Light-Touch ESG

The STOXX Europe 600 index is a key benchmark for pan-European exposure. With a fixed number of 600 components, the index represents large, mid and small capitalisation companies across 17 countries in the European region.*

The STOXX Europe 600 ESG-X index (launched in 2018) adopts exclusion criteria based on data from Sustainalytics. This leading ESG ratings provider is well-respected, with a history dating back to 1992. The screens are based on the responsible policies of leading asset owners and aim to reduce reputational and idiosyncratic risks.

A product benchmarked to this index provides investors with an investment choice based on their own values and preferences.

* These countries include: Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

Methodology

The strategy excludes companies that Sustainalytics considers to be non-compliant with the Global Standards Screening assessment, are involved in controversial weapons, are tobacco producers, or derive revenues from thermal coal extraction or exploration or have power generation capacity that utilises thermal coal.

STOXX will exclude companies that are non-compliant based on the Sustainalytics Global Standards Screening assessment. Global Standards Screening identifies companies that violate or are at risk of violating commonly accepted international norms and standards, enshrined in the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) Principles, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs), and their underlying.

Controversial Weapons. The following weapons are considered controversial: anti-personnel mines, biological and chemical weapons, cluster weapons, depleted uranium, nuclear weapons and white phosphorus weapons. The criteria for involvement are:

- Internal production or sale of controversial weapons
- The ultimate holding company owns >10% of voting rights of an involved company
- >10% of voting rights of a company are owned by the involved company

Total Weight of Exclusions by Category (%)

Source: STOXX, as at 31 December 2020. Exclusions as defined in the STOXX Index Methodology Guide (Section 14.6. STOXX Europe 600 ESG-X Index). Weights are as of the date indicated, subject to change, and should not be relied upon as current thereafter.

* Index information correct as of 31 December 2020.

Tobacco. Identified tobacco producers (with 0% revenue threshold) will be excluded.

Thermal Coal. Includes companies identified to have:

- >25% revenues from thermal coal extraction (including thermal coal mining and exploration)
- >25% power generation capacity: coal-fired electricity, heat or steam generation capacity/thermal coal electricity production (including utilities that own/operate coal-fired power plants)

The exclusions incorporated in this methodology have been identified by STOXX as among the most important.

The index is reviewed quarterly. Components are free-float market-cap weighted, with a maximum capped weight of 20%. Deleted companies will not be replaced.

Change to Methodology*

On 6 March 2020, the Index Provider changed the Fast Exit mechanism in the Index Methodology by amending the conditions that must occur before an exit is triggered.

Previously, an exit was triggered where an index constituent increased its ESG risk level to level 5. Since the change, an Index Constituent would additionally need to be deemed non-compliant based on the Sustainalytics Global Standards Screening assessment before the mechanism takes effect.

The Sustainalytics Global Standards Screening dataset is updated on a quarterly basis, so constituents with ESG Controversy Rating of Category 5 may therefore remain in the Index for up to a full quarter before the exit mechanism takes effect (assuming they are also deemed non-compliant with the Sustainalytics Global Standards Screening assessment). ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk and will fluctuate in market value. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate in value, so that when shares are sold or redeemed, they may be worth more or less than when they were purchased. Although shares may be bought or sold on an exchange through any brokerage account, shares are not individually redeemable from the fund. Investors may acquire shares and tender them for redemption through the fund in large aggregations known as "creation units." Please see the fund's prospectus for more details. Concentrated investments in a particular Sector tend to be more volatile than the overall market and increases risk that events negatively affecting such sectors or industries could reduce returns, potentially causing the value of the Fund's shares to decrease.

Investing in foreign domiciled securities may involve risk of capital loss from unfavourable fluctuation in currency values, withholding taxes, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles or from economic or political instability in other nations.

Investments in emerging or developing markets may be more volatile and less liquid than investing in developed markets and may involve exposure to economic structures that are generally less diverse and mature and to political systems which have less stability than those of more developed countries. The funds are not available to U.S. investors. SSGA SPDR ETFs Europe I plc issue SPDR ETFs, and are open-ended investment companies with variable capital having segregated liability between their sub-funds. Bonds generally present less short-term risk and volatility than stocks, but contain interest rate risk (as interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall); issuer default risk; issuer credit risk; liquidity risk; and inflation risk. These effects are usually pronounced for longer-term securities. Any fixed income security sold or redeemed prior to maturity may be subject to a substantial gain or loss.

The returns on a portfolio of securities which exclude companies that do not meet the portfolio's specified ESG criteria may trail the returns on a portfolio of securities which include such companies. A portfolio's ESG criteria may result in the portfolio investing in industry sectors or securities which underperform the market as a whole.

Equity securities may fluctuate in value and can decline significantly in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions.
