Exchange traded funds (ETFs) trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk and will fluctuate in market value. The value of the investment can go down as well as up and the return upon the investment will therefore be variable. Changes in exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income of an investment. Further, there is no guarantee an ETF will achieve its investment objective.

The whole or any part of this work may not be reproduced, copied or transmitted or any of its contents disclosed to third parties without SSGA's express written consent.

Investing involves risk including the risk of loss of principal.

Equity securities may fluctuate in value in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions. Because of their narrow focus, sector investing tends to be more volatile than investments that diversify across many sectors and companies.

The ETFs listed above have historically paid dividends to investors and/or invest in the securities of dividend paying issuers; however, there is no guarantee that these ETFs will consistently pay dividends to investors in the future or will appreciate in value. Investors could lose money by investing in ETFs.

SPDR® ETFs Dividend Distributions 2011-2013

Diversification does not ensure a profit or guarantee against loss.

There can be no assurance that a liquid market will be maintained for ETF shares.

Bonds generally present less short-term risk and volatility than stocks, but contain interest rate risk (as interest rates raise, bond prices usually fall); issuer default risk; issuer credit risk; liquidity risk; and inflation risk. These effects are usually pronounced for longer-term securities. Any fixed income security sold or redeemed prior to maturity may be subject to a substantial gain or loss.

International Government bonds and corporate bonds generally have more moderate short-term price fluctuations than stocks, but provide lower potential long-term returns.

Investing in high yield fixed income securities, otherwise known as "junk bonds", is considered speculative and involves greater risk of loss of principal and interest than investing in investment grade fixed income securities. These Lower-quality debt securities involve greater risk of default or price changes due to potential changes in the credit quality of the issuer.
